Vice Consul Obtaining
List of Available Men
For War Service

WRITES LOCAL LODGE

Secretary of Sons of St.
George Receives Message
Asking Names be Given

That Britons living in Pennsylvania may be asked to join the English army in its war against Germany and Germany's allies is indicated by a letter that has been received by Alfred Wildman, an officer of Tom Bowling lodge, Order Sons of St. George of Charleroi, from the British vice consul at Philadelphia. The letter, which is addressed to the secretary of the lodge and is self-explanatory reads:

"This office would be glad to obtain a list of all men in Pennsylvania, under 45 years of age, who have served in the British army, or in the yeomanry, territorial or volunteer forces and who if necessary, would be willing to rejoin the colors. In the case of ex non-commissioned officers the age limit would be 50.

"The General Consul would therefore be obliged if you would bring this letter to the notice of the members of your lodge and ask any man in the above categories to communicate either by letter or in person with this office.

"Thanking you in anticipation of your courtesy in this matter,

I am, Yours faithfully,

Hugh Alex. Ford, Vice Consul.

The matter will be placed before the Charleroi lodge as requested and should there be any who desire to enter the service of Great Britain, proper steps to that end will be taken. It is believed that a number in Pennsylvania will rally to the British standard if needed. The Order Sons of St. George is distinctly a British order, which is the reason for taking up the matter through that channel. The letter bears the seal of the British Consulate General.

United States Because of Foot and Mouth Disease

Canada cattle shipments to the United States are prohibited because of the foot and mouth disease among cattle. Delaware, New Jersey and Rhode Island are quarantined now. This makes 13 states under quarantine. The chances are that the entire state of Pennsylvania will be placed under quarantine.

Colder weather with rain in infected states was hailed by the Department of Agriculture officials as a powerful ally in their campaign to suppress the rapidly spreading live stock epidemic. It is said that the situation is much improved in some of the states.

BUSINESS GOOD AT ONE MINE

Lilley Workings Near West Brownsville Being Operated Steadily

MINE IS UP-TO-DATE

On the Monongahela river about one mile this side of West Brownsville the Lilley Coal and Coke company plant is running in good shape. The mine is working better than it has at any time during the past year.

About 150 men are employed at the mine at the present time, and owing to the up-to-date machinery and the manner in which this mine is equipped an immense amount of coal is removed every day. This plant is arranged for either rail or river shipping.

No hand tramming is necessary from the time a trip of loads is uncoupled from the locomotive at the foot of the slope until the cars are again made into trips of empties for return to the workings. Two slopes have been driven to the coal bed, one being employed for hoisting and the other as a supply and manway. Both are concrete lined and well lighted with incandescent lamps. Baldwin Westinghouse locomotives are used for mine haulage.

The company owns 800 acres of coal and 400 acres of surface upon which the plant and town are built. The Pittsburgh seam of coal is operated. At this point it is 9 feet thick. This particular block of coal is said to be among the finest on the Monongahela river.

STATE BOARD OF CHARITIES MEETS HOSPITAL BOARD

Matters Pertaining to Appropriation for Local Institution Gone Over at Conference in Pittsburg Wednesday Night

Matters pertaining to the state appropriation which will be asked for the Charleroi Monessen Hospital association were gone over at a meeting of a committee from the hospital board with the State Board of Charities in Pittsburg Wednesday evening. The local committee consisted of President W. R. Gault, Secretary R. A. Roberts and C. L. Schuck, a member of the board of directors.

The meeting was held by appointment. Last year the appropriation for the Charleroi Monessen hospital was $17,000 and the apportionment was $14,000 for building and $3,000 for maintenance. This year, it was explained to the board by the local committee a different arrangement will be asked. Eight thousand dollars was the amount specified for maintenance with $7,500 for building. However, when the appropriation bill is introduced there will be an increase in these proportions.

The State Board of Charities emphasized that there were serious obstacles in the way of the appropriation for the Charleroi Monessen hospital. One was that cause would have been shown specifically for the increase to $8,000 for maintenance. The biggest obstacle is in the report received by the state that the public is not supporting the hospital well. That there must be public interest to insure proper recognition on the part of the state was an explanation made by the state board. The answer of the local committee was that the hospital had but recently been organized, and that public interest was now being shown. The state board stated it had nothing to do with the building appropriation and that this would have to be placed in the appropriation bill to receive consideration.

Newspapers in nearby towns will be asked to print the annual statement of the hospital. Fifty two percent of the cases treated, it is shown are charity cases. The hospital is in the center of a community of 5,000 inhabitants.

CRIMINAL COURT FINISHES UP FEW CASES; NOW BUSY

With the grand jury still hearing cases and returning indictments and the two courts conducting trials and disposing of cases as rapidly as possible the court house is a busy place this week. Criminal court will probably be in session a full two weeks as already many cases have been added to the trial list.

Zack McCleary and Henry Johns of West Brownsville, indicted for felonious assault and battery were acquitted Wednesday. The trouble grew out of the strike on the Monongahela division last summer, when H. C. Harold an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad company was alleged to have been assaulted by the two men. The defense set up an alibi.

Mrs. Jack Lyle of California a woman well up in years is on trial for keeping a disorderly house. The information was made by Constable H. B. Lake of California, upon complaint to him. The witnesses for the commonwealth gave some racy testimony as to the goings on at the Lyle house.

"For Rent" and "For Sale"
Signs Not Safe Where
Some Youngsters Play

Several local real estate men are complaining of trouble they have in keeping "for sale" and "for rent" notices on vacant lots, and windows in vacant houses. Especially is this true in the hill sections. Some have appealed to the police for aid.

It is stated by one man that he had a house on the hill vacant for two weeks during which time some children broke one of the down stairs windows, entered the house and did so much damage to the paper and plastering that it cost $25 to put the house in repair.

It is declared that parents who have boys old enough to destroy property this way should teach them to respect other people's property. The real estate men expect to prosecute offenders who are removing signs from the lots and houses.

CAPABLE SPEED CAR

Half Hundred Mile an Hour
Rate of Travel Easy—
Cost is $6,000

Charleroi's long talked of fire truck has been unloaded from the car and Wednesday afternoon and evening was given the first try out. The truck so far has been able to do all that was required of it and more.

The truck was easily taken up Fifth street on second speed with 24 men on it. On a trial run up the brick road to Speers, with 23 men a speed of 57 miles per hour was attained. The truck is only supposed to make 45 miles per hour the way it is geared. It has a 6 cylinder 100 horse power engine.

M. P. Hanscom, delivering engineer from the American LaFrance motor car company of Elmira, New York, is here in charge of the car. He will remain about ten days trying out the truck and instructing the men who will run it. No driver has been selected as yet.

The truck is painted red with brass trimmings and lamps. Charleroi No. 1 is painted on each side in large letters. A large search light is mounted on the front of the truck and two lights are on the side. The truck is equipped with an engine bell and a siren with which to give notice of its approach.

The truck weighs 8,000 pounds and carries two 35 gallon chemical tanks, one 10 foot roof ladder, one 20 foot extension, 1,200 feet of hose, six hand devices for chemical extinguishers, three chemical carriers, axes, four lanterns, four nozzles, medicine cabinet, a tool box for truck and a large tool box underneath the hose box. The hose box is divided by a partition so that two lines of hose may be run off at the same time.

The rear wheels are 38 by 17 1/2 inch double tread while the front wheels are 38 by 14 1/2 inch single tread. The truck is so built that it will go over a rut or bad bump without much jar.

The price of the truck complete is $6,500, but a special price of $6,000 was made to the local fire department. The fire department has 30 days in which to try out the truck before the first payment is to be made. The fire department has collected part of the money to pay for the truck. Some of the money will be raised by subscription, part of which has already been subscribed.

THE FIRE TRUCK.

The advance from old-fashioned horse power or man power fire fighting apparatus to motor driven machinery evidences the progressiveness of this community, as well as, farsightedness. The purchase of a motor fire truck through the persistent efforts of the volunteer firemen will prove a money saving investment.

Under the old system the order was after the ringing of a fire alarm, for the drivers of the borough teams to unhitch in whatever remote corner of town they happened to be, race their horses to the fire building, hitch to the fire wagons by this time likely pulled by hand power therefrom and dash away to the fire. Under the new system there will be one of this. This driver will thank his machine, leap to his seat and away will speed.

Many minutes of valuable time will be saved under the new regime and probably many a serious conflagration prevented.

The mechanical contrivance will be of inestimable benefit and a money saving through ability to get to the scene of a fire in the briefest possible space of time, but this will not be the only way in which its value will be proven. Adequate fire protection will lower insurance rates. That is where the real saving will be.

PLEASING.

The man who takes our photographs and pleases us has a right to be titled artist. His is a job and he doesn't have nervous prostration before he has been in business five years, he has indeed a strong constitution. "So it is with selling shoes and dry goods or putting drugs together to cure the long-suffering woman who always thinks she is ill and isn't."

The job of the picture man is to get something together that looks like us and gratifies our vanity. The man who sells shoes must fit us well and give the best he has in stock. For money he gets in exchange. Any man who sells must please or not sell. This is a world of pleasing. Our vanity is always ready to be gratified by a word of compliment from someone. On the contrary we usually put our feelings on the outside of our overcoats ready to be penetrated by a hastily uttered, thoughtless or intended word.

In a slightly different way Christmas giving is a game of pleasing. The actual purpose of Christmas giving is that the giver may please a recipient. If a man should give another man a tie pin and instead of being thanked sincerely, should get superlatively abused he would not be inclined to afford an opportunity to another such experience. He tries to please, not to displease.

It is puzzling to know how to please. That is what makes buying gifts a nerve test. However gift-giving is only an incidental Christmas as when we usually donate comes once a year and we have to live at least 365 times one day. And in the pleasing business all that time isn't necessary to buy presents to sure pleasure. It is necessary to be decently and to convince our neighbor that we realize he is human.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The following which is titled "The Picked Up in Passing" has been handed by a reader of the "Picked Up in Passing" column:
"Lord please don't let this town grow. I've been here for thirty years and during that time I've fought every ill improvement. I've knocked everything and everybody. No firm or individual has established a business here without my doing all I could to put them out of business. I've lied about them, and would have stolen from them if I had the courage. I have done all I could to keep the town from growing and never have spoken a good word for it. I've brooded hard and often. I've put ashes on the children's side and I've made the marshal stop the boys playing ball on my vacant lot. Whenever I saw anyone prospering or enjoying themselves I've started a reform to kill the business or spoil the fun. I don't want the young folks to stay in this town and I will do all I can by law, rule and ordinance to drive them away. It pains me, O Lord, to see that in spite of my knocking it is beginning to grow. Some day I fear I will be called upon to put down sidewalk in front of my property and who knows but what I may have to help keep up the streets that run by my premises? This, Lord, would be more than I could bear. It would cost me money, though all I have was made right here in this town. Then, too, more people might come if the town begins to grow, which would cause me to lose some of my pull. I ask therefore, to keep this town at a standstill, that I may continue to be the chief. Amen.

"The Bull Moose party is entirely dead," remarked a Charleroi man after reading a news item from a certain county seat recently. He was interrupted by an enthusiastic adherent of that party, who strenuously objected to such talk and made motions to indicate he was from Missouri and desired to be shown.
"All right I'll show you," responded the first speaker. He drew from his pocket a newspaper and opened it to a story referring to a meeting of the Bull Moose folk.
"See this?" he queried. He pointed to the sentence "Adjournment was taken sine die."
"Now doesn't that prove my contention," he argued. "It says the Bull Moose party died to sin no more."

ELECTRIC SPARKS

One thing pronounceable about this war is the description of what it is.

It's bad enough having had to swallow Prezemyl once without having to take it again.

It's a pity the rules of simplified spelling can't be applied to Eastern war names.

It is queer no one has ever thought of sending the talkative John Lind to Europe to end the war.

We are assured by a New York health officer that dead cows give no milk. And a dead man like he will be some of these days give no fool problems.

A Belgian fighter is described as a bicycle rider, motorcyclist, auto racer, aviator, gambler and bomb-stopper. He's the sort of man who wouldn't care much for excitement like croquet. Some infants sleep all day so they can keep awake all night to enjoy their father's company.

Great Mistake.
"Advertising ruined me."
"Said the man."
"What on earth," demanded we.
"Was your plan?"

"Only one mistake," he said.

UNDERTAKER ROSS CONVALESCING AFTER SERIOUS ACCIDENT

J. T. Ross, the Brownsville funeral director injured in an automobile accident three weeks ago, made his first appearance on the street this week. While Mr. Ross has not entirely recovered his condition is such that he will not be obliged to remain at his home all the time. Mr. Ross said that his injured ribs had not altogether healed yet and that he was in a weakened physical condition. He was taken a drive in Controller Harry Kisinger's automobile early in the afternoon and remained in his office the remainder of the day. Mr. Ross was seriously injured three weeks ago when his big White car backed over the wall into the yard of G. B. Obey's residence.

FABLE DEALING WITH ADVICE

Will Be Interesting Alike to Those Who Offer and Those Who Seek Guidance.

Once on a day when many problems rose up and encompassed me about as high walls my friend came to me with admonition in his eyes and advice on his tongue.

And, because of the love that was between us, I hearkened unto the words of my friend and did as he advised. But his advice brought me to good thing. Nay, rather it led me deeper into the prison of questionings. And when I saw that my troubles were multiplied upon me I sought out my friend again to ask him why this should be. And I said:

"Lo! All that thou badest me do I have done, yet am I not released from my difficulty—rather is trouble multiplied upon me!"

And my friend lost patience with me and laughed me to scorn and said:

"If thou knewest that what I said would bring thee to no good end, why wast thou obedient to my voice? I advised for thy good—but thy life I cannot make for thee."

And at first I was wroth with my friend, but later, when I had lain still a long time with my thought, I was thankful unto him.

For I said, "Henceforth I will not ask advice only of my own mind, and the soul within me shall be a counselor."

And when I had sought the advice of my mind and taken counsel with mine own soul, I saw a path between the walls and knew where my feet should tread. And by that path I began to climb from my prison.

Then came other friends with advice on their tongues and cried unto me:

"Not this way! Not this way!"

But I hearkened not unto them, for I felt that I was destined to be mine own deliverer. And at last there came a day when the walls of my prison lay below me and when I could smile upon my friends and say:

"Lo, it was the right path!"

But my friends only smiled back at me with right good will and said:

"You have had good luck. We are glad."—Marguerite Wilkinson.

TREE AGRICULTURE NOT NEW

Immense Possibilities When the Subject Has Been Thoroughly and Scientifically Sifted.

The modern conception of "tree agriculture" is new—it is only a few years since men began to discuss the possibility of substituting permanent trees for annual seed-bearing grains as the world's food supply. But the fact of tree agriculture is very old, and few who live in northern lands have any idea how far it has progressed in the hot regions.

There are some 60,000,000 coconut trees in the island of Ceylon, valued at nearly $200,000,000. They furnish much of the food supply of the inhabitants. The date palms of the Pacific are other examples of tropical fruit trees, and the chestnuts, carobs and olives of southern Europe show something of what can be done in cooler climates.

In the grasp of modern science, trees are as plants as animals. When we consider what has been accomplished in animal breeding in the last two centuries, we get some idea of tree farming as our descendants may practice it 200 years hence.

Wallachs in History.

The Wallachs have a large legendary literature, ballads of past history, folklore, fireside tales and songs. To this subject Lazar devotes one of the most interesting chapters in the book. He has not aimed at presenting anything like a complete record, but his specimens show what a wealth of material here awaits investigation and record before the encroachments of newer culture have destroyed this invaluable record of the life of an interesting folk. Material of this sort now stands upon a high plane. It is recognized that it is worthy of studious attention as preserving records of the life of a people such as are lacking to the avidity of chronicles and documents of history.

Traits of British Troops.

When discussing the peninsular campaign with John Wilson Croker Wellington told him that "the national character of the three kingdoms was strongly marked in my army. I found the English regiments always in the best humor when we were well supplied with beef; the Irish when we were in the wine countries, and the Scotch when the dollars for pay came up. This looks like an epigram, but I assure you it was a fact, and quite perceptible. But we managed to reconcile all their tempers, and I venture to say that in our later campaigns, and especially when we crossed the Pyrenees, there never was an army in the world in better spirits, better order or better discipline."

Pythagoras Didn't Know.

Everybody has puzzled over the impression that what he is doing or seeing or hearing he has done or seen or heard before. Professor Bergson, in a lecture in Edinburgh, explained the phenomenon. It is due to psychasthenia, and answers to the name of paramnesia. What happens is that "an insufficiency of psychical impetus causes our attention continually to flag and revive again, so that we continually feel ourselves simultaneously in the past and in the present in memory and in perception."

TWO ARE HELD FOR ASSAULTING JOSEPH FELSKIN

John Pichnody and Nadle Mattheus, who are alleged to have waylaid and beat up Joseph Felskin, as he was on his way home from the dance at the Russian hall Saturday night, about 11:30 o'clock, were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice this morning.

In default of $300 bail the young men were sent to the county jail to await action of the grand jury. They are charged with aggravated assault and battery.

Felskin and the two young men had been at the dance, and he had started home. When he came to a dark place below the West Side Electric company's car barn the two men are said to have assaulted him. Felskin was badly cut on the nose in two places.

BEETS THAT BEAT ALL BEETS ARE GROWN LOCALLY

Beets that beat all beets are being displayed in the window of Frye's Hardware store on Fallowfield avenue. One of these beets weighs 10 pounds and the other weighs nine and a half pounds. These wonderful tubers are over a foot in length.

J. B. Assenat has the distinction of being the raiser of these large garden fruits. It is believed that they are the largest beets in Washington county.

ALL THINGS SAFE THAT NIGHT

Reason Why There Was Nothing Extraordinary About Man Recovering His Lost Watch.

When the snow fell thickest on the first night of a storm last winter a Staten Island man got off the ferryboat at St. George and pulled out his gold watch to note the time, relates the New York Press. It fell from his hand into a pile of snow. He searched for it, of course, but as the wind was blowing a hurricane and he was numbed through he made up his mind he would have to let it go. So he reluctantly trudged up the street.

The next day when he went down to the ferry the storm had abated somewhat and as he neared the particular pile of snow where he had dropped the watch he determined to have another look. So he went to it. There was no mile a minute wind and no sleet in his face and his body was warm after a good solid breakfast.

He rummaged around for ten minutes or more and at last, to his great joy, he saw the watch, somewhat dirty, but still in a first rate state of preservation. He was so overjoyed that he had to tell his luck to a policeman who had been watching his search curiously.

"Oh, is that what it was?" said the bluecoat. "And you're surprised? Well, you needn't be. Can you name a man in the whole world who would have bothered looking for a watch last night? Why, anything you placed in snow would have been safe. I know men who didn't go home at all last night and they blamed it on the snow. And they didn't lose a smirch of their reputation. You couldn't lose anything last night."

MIRROR FOR DAINTY WOMAN

May Be Held in the Mouth, Leaving Both Hands Free to Arrange the Back Hair.

At last a woman may have both hands free to arrange her back hair as she looks in a mirror. This is made possible now by the invention of a mirror which can be held in the mouth, thus reflecting the back of the head from the main mirror of the dressing table.

It is the invention of a Frenchman. Who has given so much thought to the elegancies of woman's toilet as the French.

This new mirror is broad, so as to give a good general view allwise, and, being fixed on a curved bar, stands well out from the face, so that there is no strain on the eyes.

At the bottom of the curved bar is the "bite," not too large for dainty mouths and covered with batting, so as to be easily held without harming the teeth.

Even the hygienic side of the use of this mirror has been considered, for a number of thick envelopes just fitting over the "bite" come with the mirror, so that you may lend it to your friend and neither she nor you fear any contagion.

Too Much Realism.

One of the most successful productions at the "Old Vic" was a play—written without Dickens' permission—round "Oliver Twist," and banned by the lord chamberlain owing to the realistic way in which Bill Sikes murdered Nancy. His lordship's jurisdiction did not extend to what were then called the "minor theaters," so the play was for many years a standing dish at the "Vic" and thrilled the galleries with fierce emotions, no matter how many times they had seen it.

"Nancy was always dragged round the stage by her hair," writes John Hollingshead, "and after this effort, Sikes always looked up defiantly at the gallery. He was always answered by one loud and fearful curse, yelled by the whole mass like a Handel festival chorus. When Sikes seemed to dash Nancy's brains out or the stage a thousand outraged voices, which sounded like ten thousand, filled the theater and deafened the audience below."—London Chronicle.

Strange Extravagance.

A viticium of James Hazen Hyde's is going the rounds of Paillard's, the Ritz, Armonville, and other fashionable resorts of Paris.

A rich young Englishman, George Mitchell, paid, as everybody knows, a large sum for the privilege of being knocked out by Carpentier, the French champion.

Mr. Hazen Hyde, who attended the combat, said, as the battered Briton took the count:

"Here's a fine young fellow comes to Paris and pays $2,000 to have his face smashed by a boxer, when, for a hundredth part of the money, he could have it kissed by the prettiest girl at Maxim's."

Rats at School.

The managers of the West Hill infant schools at Epsom, England, are wrestling, but so far in vain, with a colony of rats. Rat-catchers have spent nights in the building waging war upon them, but they are still numerous. According to the schoolmistress, they peer out of the holes all round the room when the piano is played, and then come out and scamper about until the music stops. The children have grown so used to them that their appearance does not worry them.

Climbing.

"You folk are being taken up by society, aren't you?"

"Well, we don't believe in bragging, but we know three ladies who smoke cigarettes."

BENTLEYVILLE

Changes Date.

Prof. Charles P. McCormick, principal of the Bentleyville high school, has announced his intentions of changing Visitors' Day to some other date than November 20, the date set by the county superintendent, L. R. Crumrine. Prof. McCormick gives his reasons that this is an examination day in the high school and in the midst of the tabernacle services. The day for visitors will be set apart at a later date, not exactly decided upon as yet. However, anyone desiring to visit the high school on the twentieth is welcome. At the time set apart for visiting the high school the two literary societies of the school will hold a union meeting in the afternoon.

Bridge Completed.

At last, within the bounds of several prophecies ventured by the more optimistic citizens of town, the bridge on Washington street was completed before the winter snows. The structure is greatly improved. It was raised to the level of the street and improved with a sidewalk on one side. The small stretch intervening between the east end of the bridge and the street car track will presently be bricked.

Horne Improving.

J. L. Horne, a well known farmer of the agricultural section west of Bentleyville, is rapidly recovering from a deep scalp wound inflicted a few days ago. He was injured in a fall from a dirt wagon, when the unloading lever snapped abruptly throwing him head foremost to the ground.

Return Home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Watson have returned to their home after spending a couple of weeks at the home of Mr. Watson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson of near Vanceville.

Personals.

Miss Mary Walker has returned to her home near Pigeon Creek after remaining the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sampson of Washington street.

At the present time the mines at Acme are working but a part of the time. However, it is prophesied that they will recommence work soon to continue throughout the entire winter.

S. A. House and family will move from the Levina C. Huffman property on South Main street to the Margaret Morton property on the same street Saturday.

Miss Margaret Mills was a shopper in the Charleroi markets Wednesday afternoon.

Russell Croft and family, whose home was recently destroyed by fire, have moved to the Kennedy property on Washington street.

Rev. John W. King of Beallsville, was a recent business caller in town.

The Bentleyville Stars declare that it will be hard to locate worthy opponents—now that they have defeated the wonderful Beallsville eleven. It is thought that they will attempt a contemporary in a Charleroi eleven. King Jones, who was injured Tuesday day is recovering as rapidly as the circumstances permit.

Seth D. Allman was a recent business caller in Charleroi.

Prayer meetings will be held for the first time in the newly erected tabernacle Friday evening. These union prayer meetings will be the first services to be held in the structure.

S. A. House is spending the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Borum of near Beallsville.

CHARLEROI WINS FROM SOUTHSIDE

In its first exhibition game on the Charleroi skating rink floor, the Charleroi team of the West Penn Basketball league defeated the Southside five Wednesday night by the score of 38 to 15. It was the first real test for Manager Russell's protégés, who under the expert direction of Playing Manager Joe Stark worked well. The second game of the exhibition series will be played next Wednesday night with the Silent Five of Edgewood.

A fair sized crowd was present to witness the struggle. One thing which hampered fast playing was the lack of a cage, but this essential has been ordered and by next Wednesday will have been placed.

Charleroi's lineup looked good. Mackey and Stark were on the forwards to begin the game, Allie Brown formerly of the Central league was at center and Ross Sorce and Burke were on the guards. After the game got well started these five men showed the real form of which they are capable. Mackey and Stark worked well together and Allie Brown's ability at center proved him to be a man very much at home. Sorce and Burke played well at guard. A change was made in the lineup toward the end of the contest, when Keifer and McDowell were placed at forwards, West at center and Lowstuter and Campbell at guards. This five proved about as strong as the first five. Lowstuter's work was especially good.

Allie Brown and Stark led in the scoring, each having five field goals. The Southside five contained three of the regular West Penn players that later will be seen in action here against Charleroi. Lysaught, the tall center was one of them.

Lineup:
Charleroi—38
Mackey, Keifer F
Stark, McDowell F
Brown, West C
R. Sorce G
Lowstuter G
Burke G
Campbell G

Field goals: Mackey 3, Keifer 2, Stark 3, Brown 3, R. Sorce, Wilkinson 2, Lysaught, Stanton, Cooper 3, Goals 3. Goals from fouls—Mackey 2 out of 5, Stark 1 out of 3, McDowell 2 out of 3, Lysaught 1 out of 5. Referred—Steyler

Monessen To Play Olympics.
The Monessen All Stars football team will play the McKeesport Olympics on the Monessen field Saturday afternoon. The game will be the first of the elimination series for the Western Pennsylvania independent championship.

WAR BULLETINS

London, Nov. 12.—The Germans have resumed this attack on the allies' line between the coast and the Lys river. They have captured the town of Dixmude. The country between Dixmude and Ypres is again the scene of a battle which for fury has seldom if ever been equaled. The Germans wish to take one of the French forts which is behind Dixmude in the direct road to Dunkirk. If they succeed the French will have to fall back to a new position. The Germans claim to have taken 500 prisoners with the capture of Dixmude, and 2,000 prisoners with the capture of positions to the west of Lange-marck.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 12.—No word has come to the Navy Department from the armored cruisers North Carolina and Tennessee in the Mediterranean. Officials are confident that the silence of the cruisers is caused by difficulties of communication through the war zone.

Lima, Peru, Nov. 12.—A telegram from Talal, Chile, says that four German warships were seen off Coquimbo, Chile, steaming north. Montevideo, Nov. 12.—It is stated that a Japanese squadron of three battle ships and two cruisers are approaching Montevideo, where they will coal and then go to the Pacific to pursue German vessels.

London, Nov. 12.—The British gunboat Niger has been torpedoed off Deal by a German submarine. The Niger floundered but all the officers and crew were saved.

PITT TO PLAY TECH TEAM ON NEXT SATURDAY

University of Pittsburg's football team has two more important battles on its card before the curtain is rung down on the football season of 1914 and Pittsburgers will have that number of opportunities of seeing the mighty Blue and Gold machine in action. This coming Saturday, Carnegie Institute of Technology is met for the city championship and a big crowd is expected to turn out. Rivalry is keen between the two schools and it is expected as the years go by this game will equal the annual Pitt & J. clash in point of interest.

Tech is coached by Walter Steffen, former University of Chicago quarterback and all American star. Steffen has coached his proteges in Western football methods and they will swoop down on Forbes field with the determination of making the Pitties step fast all the way. They will likely depend largely on the open game and give the Blue and Gold a lot of trouble. Their most notable feat this year was holding Lehigh down to a 27-0 score, being beaten only in the last few minutes of play. Lehigh's defeat of State College last Saturday gives an indication of the kind of football Tech played. Coach Steffen has a wonderful find in Quarterback Kesner and with him to lead the attack. Tech believes she has a good chance to humble the colors of the University.

After the Tech game, the team has a 10 day rest before they go up against Penn State College at Forbes field on Thanksgiving Day. This will be another of the terrific battles that has set Pittsburg football fans wild each year. State has "Bill" Hollenbach as coach and the former Penn star has molded a fine team together. Capt. Tobin, who has been out of the last two games, will be back in harness and the State team will present its full strength. As Pitt downed State last year, the up county bunch is very anxious to win this year. Quarterback "Chalky" Williamson is expected to be back in the game against State and his presence will add much strength. With Williamson in the W. & J. game, it is believed that the additional punch would have been provided to annex a victory over the Washingtonians.

It has become known that the University of Pittsburg athletic authorities are dickering with Glenn S. Warner, Cornell University graduate and former coach and noted tutor of the Carlisle Indian school team for the last five years, to take charge of the Blue and Gold grid men in 1915.

Next Thursday Mary Pickford (Paramount) "Behind the Scenes." Five parts. Critics claim this the best of Pickford Pictures. 112-16

Get into Business

The young man who has an ambition to get into business for himself will find the most feasible plan lies in a savings account—a systematic saving of a portion of his salary will accumulate a working capital before he is aware of it. This bank gives special attention to its savings department and your account, no matter how small, will have careful attention. 4 per cent compound interest paid on savings accounts.
